A New Book by Herbert Spencer—to be His Last
Facts and Comments

By HERBERT SPENCER

Author of "The Study of Sociology," "Education: Intellectual, Moral, Physical," Etc.

Uniform Edition. 12mo, Cloth, $1.20 net; Postage, 12 Cents Additional

HERBERT SPENCER.

ON April 27 this venerable philosopher celebrated his eighty-second birthday. During the many years spent in writing various systematic works, there have arisen from time to time ideas not fitted, in his judgment, for incorporation in them, but which the author felt reluctant to let pass unrecorded, and at intervals during the last two years, at his home in Brighton, England, he has set down these thoughts for the benefit of an eager world. This done, he says: "Possibly to a second edition I shall make some small additions, but, be this as it may, this volume, I can say with certainty, will be my last." Thus does he bring a great life work to a close.

"Facts and Comments" will surely become the most popular of Mr. Spencer's works. The topics discussed are of general interest. At the hands of the unskilled they would be commonplace. From the analytical brain of a philosopher of the greatness of Herbert Spencer—a greatness that has extended over more than two generations—the subjects treated—any subject, in fact—assumes a commanding importance. Such topics as "Americanisms," "Presence of Mind," "The Corruption of Music," "The Origin and Development of Music," "Estimates of Men," "State Education," etc., are invested with a life and actuality only possible under his stimulating treatment.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have added to their People's Library George B. McCutcheon's successful story, "Graustark, the Story of a Love Behind the Throne."

D. APPLETON & CO. have just ready Herbert Spencer's latest, and probably last, book, "Facts and Comments." The book is made up of ideas developed while writing his various systematic works, but which in his judgment were not fitted for incorporation in them. The subjects treated are "Americanisms," "Presence of Mind," "The Corruption of Music," "The Origin and Development of Music," "Estimates of Men," "State Education," etc.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., announces a new book for boys, by Harry Castlemon, entitled "A Struggle for a Fortune," to be fully illustrated; "The Yellow Violin," a new story for girls as well as boys, by Mary A. Denison; also, a charming new book for the youngest readers, by Elizabeth May, entitled "Animal Life in Rhymes and Jingles," with colored full-page pictures of animals of every land, the descriptions being in verse, and giving information of the habits, home, appearance, etc., of each animal.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have been obliged to postpone the publication of "Bylow Hill" to May 24. On May 31 they will publish "A Pasteboard Crown," by Clara Morris. They expect to bring out in June an amusing novel by the English humorist, Barry Paine, entitled "The One Before," in which a magic ring plays havoc with prosaic characters in every-day London society, giving to each wearer the qualities of its last wearer and thereby leading to innumerable wheels within wheels. In July they will bring out a collection of some of Richard Harding Davis's best work, to be illustrated by five leading artists. The title of this book will be announced within two weeks.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready "The Lower South in American History," by William Garrott Brown, already fully described by us. They will publish this month the first volume of "Representative English Comedies," a work in five volumes under the general editorship of Charles Mills Gayley, Professor of English in the University of California. The first volume will have an introduction by Professor Gayley on the "Beginnings of English comedy, dramatic elements in miracle plays," etc., and will cover this history of the species within the limits illustrated by plays in the volume, and with special reference to authors and plays not represented in the body of the volume. Among the dramatists represented in this volume will be John Heywood, edited by A. W. Pollard; Nicholas Udall, edited by Professor Ewald Flügel; Gammer Gurton's Needle, edited by Henry Bradley; John Lyly, edited by Professor G. P. Baker, and others. They will publish next week "Brinton Eliot: from Yale to Yorktown," a new novel, by James Eugene Farmer. The opening chapters portray life at Yale from 1770-1773, under President Nathaniel Daggett, when College Hall, Connecticut Hall and the chapel were the only buildings, when the faculty consisted of the president and six tutors, and the undergraduate body numbered a little over one hundred. At Yale begins the love story of Eliot Brinton, whose fortunes are followed through the Revolutionary period. The author gives vivid pictures of Franklin at Passy, Beaumarchais laboring with Louis XVI. to bring about the French Alliance, Steuben drilling the recruits at Valley Forge, and Anthony Wayne at Stony Point. "The Virginian: a Horseman of the Plains," Owen Wister's long-promised new novel, is positively announced to be ready on the 28th inst.

A study of state banking in the United States as it has grown up since the Civil War. The movement is viewed both as a legal and economic phenomenon. The first part, "state bank legislation," deals in the main with the evolution of the present state banking laws. In the second part, "The state bank as a credit agency," attention has been given to the economic side of the movement, and to the causes which have produced a large expansion of state banking at the expense of other institutions for supplying credit.

He covers in his narrative the whole range of college activities, outdoor and indoor life, athletics and clubs, examinations and amusements, the university and the outside world. He deals lightly with the history of Oxford, its past and its influence on English life, and in the light of this history and study touches on the problems which now concern the American university, the social and athletic problem, the administrative and educational, and the large question of the service of the University to the country.

He says in his introduction: "To one who is interested at all deeply in philosophical subjects, the treatment that Christian Science has received at the hands of its contemporary opponents seems very inadequate and often grossly unfair." The Rev. He is moved to preach a sermon on the text, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ." The result is pictured in the form of an interesting story.

The "matchmaking mother" was left a widow in India, with eight unmarried daughters. Her husband had been colonel of the 3d Bengal Hussars, and her position during his lifetime an unexceptionally happy one. She determines her daughters' lives through happy marriages shall be as happy as her own has been. She returns to England with two of them and begins her campaign. Her successful tactics are amusingly detailed.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MAY 17, 1902.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BORROWING MONEY "ON THE ROAD."

THE editor of The Iron Age once said: "Of all the errors that a travelling salesman can make, the most fatal is to borrow money from his customers." That is a truth that men new in the business would do well to firmly impress on their memories. It is quite enough to ask a customer to cash a check received from the house, that can be added to the day's deposit at the bank, and thus keep the cash balance intact; it is presuming upon good nature to ask a customer to cash a draft upon the house, even though there is no danger of its being dishonored; but it certainly amounts to business suicide to negotiate a straight loan. Merchants have no money to lend to their business associates; and, while probably many will, with seeming willingness, help a man with whom their relations may be cordial, they will be very apt to remember distinctly the date upon which payment was promised, and will expect payment—indeed, even insist upon getting back their money, and in default put their debtor in a position that may permanently injure his interests. Even when payment is made promptly, the lender may have a feeling of uneasiness that the first transaction may have others in its train that might not end so favorably; hence, there will be a strained relation that will not help either side very much.

A travelling salesman should guard his personal credit as jealously as his reputation for fair dealing. The man whose manner and bearing indicate that he is in no need of favors has no occasion to ask for them—they come to him unasked; but let the same man once show himself "hard up," and try to borrow money, his well-fed and groomed appearance will avail him little. He will ever afterward be regarded as a man liable to call for assistance, and one who is to be kept at a distance. Better, even when but temporarily and for good reason embarrassed, to write home, to borrow from a fellow-salesman, or to "stand off" the hotel keeper and go out of town upon the bumpers of a freight train, than importune a customer at the risk of straining relations with him and losing his friendly regard.

BRAYTON IVES TO ABANDON SUIT.

AFTER nearly seven years of litigation Brayton Ives offers to abandon the suit which he instituted against Ellis & Elvey, of London, to recover $4371, the price paid by him for the now notorious Columbus letter.

Mr. Ives, we need hardly recall, bought the letter in 1890 from Gilbert Ellis, under the impression that it was a contemporaneous print from type. Later, he alleged, the letter was not printed from movable type, but by some modern reproductive process.

Suit was entered against Mr. Ellis here, and decisions in favor of the bookseller were rendered by the lower courts; but in December last the Court of Appeals ordered a new trial, and it was thought that the case would be fought over again. The death, however, of Mr. Ellis, and the withdrawal of Mr. Elvey from the firm intervened, and recently Mr. Ives, through his attorney, offered to abandon the suit if the Ellis heirs would share a portion of the expense already incurred. James H. Fay, who represents the heirs, is reported to have said on the 14th inst. that this method of settlement would probably be accepted.

WORK OF AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

THE eighty-sixth annual report of the American Bible Society, read at the annual meeting held at the Bible House, in New York City, on the 8th inst., stated that the threatened evils arising from a permanent shrinkage in the support given the society have been arrested. Fifteen life directors were constituted during the year by the payment of $150 each, and 263 life members were constituted by the payment of $30 each. The receipts were $433,173, and the cash balance at the close of the fiscal year was $29,329. Appropriations have been authorized for the foreign work during the current year to an amount not exceeding $200,000. The total amount of invested funds is $486,402. The income from these permanent funds for the past year was $19,595.

The total issues of Bibles for the year, at home and abroad, amount to 1,723,791. This is an increase of 169,663 over those of last year. Of these 686,755 were distributed in the United States, and 1,037,036 in foreign lands. The total issues of the society in eighty-six years amount to 70,677,225.

During this year the society has established a special agency among the colored people of the Southern States. The Rev. Dr. J. P. Wragg has been appointed agent at Atlanta, Ga.

NOT A CONGRESSIONAL LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, on the 12th inst., received the following letter from Herbert Putnam, the Librarian of Congress:

"I have received the following letter:

"An agent calling himself F. E. Stewart, of the Library of Congress, came to me the other day with a project for a travelling library, a branch of your library at Washington. For $2 a year one book a week would be sent free to any address, same book to be returned at the end of the week. Is this a legitimate arrangement?"

"During the last few years there have been various attempts upon the part of publishers and book agents to promote their enterprises by the allegation, direct or implied, that their publications emanate from the Library of Congress or are issued in some way under its authority. Here appears to be an imposture of another sort. The Library of Congress is, of course, a free library. It is not a circulating library, and there is no F. E. Stewart on its rolls, nor, so far as I am aware, any person of such a name employed in any way to represent it.

"HERBERT PUTNAM, Librarian of Congress."

BIG PRICES FOR RARE BOOKS.

THE highest price yet paid for a copy of a modern author's book has just been given in England by Mr. T. J. Wise. For three thousand dollars he has lately acquired the second of the only two known copies of the original edition of Tennyson's "Lover's Tales"—to the ordinary man an insignificant discolored little volume—with some corrections in the poet's hand. The other copy is in the Rowfant Library.

At the first day's sale of the sixth part of the McKee Library, on the evening of May 12, a Baskett Bible (London, 1752,) was sold for $2025. This is alleged to be the first Bible printed in America, by Kneeland & Green, of Boston, who, according to Isaiah Thomas, used Mark Baskett's name to avoid prosecution. The book was in the original sheep binding and was secured by George D. Smith.

A first edition of Charles Dickens's "David Copperfield," London, 1850, with a presentation inscription and a letter from Dickens to J. L. Rickards, dated "Tavistock House, Thirty-first May, 1854," brought $625.

The Kilmarnock edition (1786) of Burns's Poems sold for $825.

"A Catalogue of Choice and Valuable Books . . . to be Sold for Ready Money Only by Benj. Franklin at the Post Office in Philadelphia, Wednesday, the 11th day of April, 1744, at Nine a clock in the Morning," only known copy, sixteen pages, binding by Francis Bedford, fetched $345.

"The History of the Five Indian Nations," by Caldwellader Colden, printed and sold by William Bradford, New York, 1727, sold for $860.

"His Majesties Gracious Letter to the Earle of Southampton, Treasurer, and to the Coun-cle and Company of Virginia," London, 1622, brought $260.

For a quarto first edition of Percy Bysshe Shelley's "Adonais," published at Pisa, "with the types of Didot," in 1821, the record price of $2125 was paid by George H. Richmond, at the second and concluding day's sale of the McKee library. This book bears the inscription in Shelley's own handwriting, "To my dear Friend Leigh Hunt," and contains also a presentation inscription from Leigh Hunt to Thomas Love Peacock, as well as the characteristic markings of favored passages by Leigh Hunt.

The next highest price of the day, and the third highest of this sale, was $1600, paid also by Mr. Richmond, for the first folio black letter edition of "The Imitation of Christ," by Thomas à Kempis, published about 1471, by Vindel. It contains 76 unnumbered leaves, 35 lines to a page.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE May dinner of the Booksellers' League was held on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst., at the rooms of the Aldine Association, and was in every way an enjoyable affair, Mr. Ernest Thompson-Seton, author of "Wild Animals I Have Known," and other animal books; Mr. J. Hamblen Sears, of the editorial staff of Harper & Brothers, and author of "None But the Brave," etc., and Mr. Louis Burgess were the guests and speakers of the evening.

When the tables had been cleared, the president, John A. Holden, introduced Mr. Seton as "the Boswell of the bear and other beasts."

Mr. Seton's talk was in the main an endeavor to show that the new interest in "nature books" would be permanent. "Several dealers have asked me," said he, "if I did not think there is a 'boom' in nature books at the present time which will fall off before long, like other booms, and leave us where we were before. I have told them I think there is undoubtedly a 'boom' in nature books, and it will follow the course of all other booms; but it will not leave us where we were before." Mr. Seton cited as a parallel the bicycle boom of 1895, and the slump in the bicycle market that soon followed: "yet," said he, "with the return of normal conditions twice as many wheels are used today as during the boom." So it would be, he thought, with nature study.

"Darwin was the first," he continued, "to give scientific force to the idea that the animals are our kind. Since then we have come to realize that what is possible with us is possible with the animals, and vice versa. We have greater reasoning power, but their lack in this is offset by their keener senses. Of late years the point of view has changed, and now the underlying idea in nature study is that the more we know about the animals the more we know about ourselves."

Mr. Seton mentioned some instances he had observed of remarkable intelligence in antelopes, eagles and wolves, and concluded by saying: "The animals have personalities like our own, but of course with much lower reasoning powers. The study of the animals from this point of view gives a great elevating pleasure to those who indulge in it, and is supplanting the pleasure of shooting merely for the sake of killing. All the best sentiment of the nation is in the direction of preserving our animals. Now, the interest in these things will not fall off altogether. Each year we are becoming more and more an outdoor nation, and take greater pleasure in the study of outdoor life. The demand will endure and so will the supply. The nature book has come to stay. There is a 'boom,' in a certain sense, but the normal condition, when it is established, will show a greater interest in nature books than before."

Mr. J. Hamblen Sears spoke next, in a dry, humorous vein, upon "Angling for Authors." He said times had changed since the poor, miserable, half-starved author went trembling into the presence of the publisher with a manuscript. "To-day," said he, "when we have the picture of a publisher going to the author's elegant hotel suite, or to his country estate, begging him to write a new book, and finding him buried under a pile of letters from fifteen or twenty other publishers, all offering him ten times more than he can pay, the situation becomes serious!" He described, in an amusing way, his business visits to numerous "literary centres" in the Middle West, where his arrival was often made the occasion of a convivial celebration rather than of business transactions; of his visit to a youthful authoress, who revealed to him her plans for four of the most remarkable books ever conceived by the human brain, etc. Mr. Sears also told of his visit to Gen. Lew Wallace, whom he found in his huge marble "study" at work upon his Memoirs, and to Gilbert Parker, from whom he heard the story of the prototype in real life of Charles Steele, the hero of "The Right of Way."

Mr. Louis Burgess, of Brentano's, was the last speaker, and gave several excellent recitations of sketches in negro dialect, concluding with a selection from Thomas Nelson Page's "Meh Lady."

AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE Executive Committee of the American Booksellers' Association again calls the attention of the trade to the fact that the Annual Convention will be held at the rooms of the association, 30 East Twenty-first Street, New York, June 16 and 17. The banquet will be held on the evening of the 17th of June. It is hoped that a large number will be present.

COMMUNICATIONS.

DESIGNATING NET BOOKS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: On page 1047 of issue of May 3, regarding designation of net books published under the regulated discount plan, I would respectfully suggest that "C. N." (Controlled Net,) or "R. N." (Regulated Net,) might serve the purpose as distinguishing marks.

CHARLES W. BURROWS,
Pres. Burrows Bros. Co.
CLEVELAND, O., May 8, 1902.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: In regard to designating net books under the new system, as suggested in your article in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for May 3, how would it do if A. P. A. (in heavy face type just before the price) was put in?

This shows that the price was net under the new system of the American Publishers' Association.

Respectfully,
BOOK CLERK.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS will represent Collier's Weekly at the coronation of Alfonso XIII. of Spain, and of Edward VII. of England.

JUST before his death, Bret Harte finished a new series of "Condensed Novels," which present travesties on Kipling, Conan Doyle, et al.

KING EDWARD has commissioned J. E. C. Bodley, author of "The Revolution and Modern France," "The Parliamentary System," etc., to write the official account of the coronation ceremony, which will be published in two editions, one of which will be for popular subscription.

E. F. BENSON's new novel is to be entitled "A Book of Months." It will be an autobiographical story of a man's life for a year, told in a series of monthly sections. He has already written the story for three months, but it is unlikely that the book will be published till the spring of next year.

THE title of Miss Hallie Erminie Rives's new novel, to be published by Bowen-Merrill Company, will be "Hearts Courageous." One of its most thrilling scenes is laid in the old State House, in Philadelphia, while the final debate on the Declaration of Independence was in progress. The reader will also be introduced to Benjamin Franklin's home and to one of the historic inns on High Street (now Market) which have long since disappeared.

EDWIN ATLEE BARBER, curator of the Pennsylvania Museum at Memorial Hall, Philadelphia, Pa., and author of "The Pottery and Porcelain of the United States" and "Anglo-American Pottery," is at work on a book that will deal with marks of American potters, and will illustrate 1000 different marks found on pottery and porcelain made in the United States from the beginning of the industry here until the present time. Another work by Dr. Barber is the first art handbook of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art, and will treat of the tulip-ware of the Pennsylvania Germans, with special reference to the unique, valuable, and very interesting collections of slip-decorated and sgraffito wares displayed in Memorial Hall. This volume will contain historical sketches of the old Pennsylvania potteries, and will be fully illustrated in half-tone and color.

DOLF WYLLARDE, the author of "The Story of Eden," published by John Lane, has written to say that this story was the outcome of a visit to Africa in 1889 on account of illness. She planned and wrote the book at Wynberg, and on the way home—in the chart room of the Carisbrook Castle, where she was safe from interruption, and while Africa was still strong in her memory. She is an English-woman, and most of her time is spent in London. Journalism has taught her to describe accurately, to observe closely, and to turn every chance experience into copy. She says that if she succeeds as a writer of books it will be half due to the fact that she has been London correspondent, sports editor, paragraphist, and newspaper reporter. She says that she has been amused by the incredulity cast upon her name, and adds that her intimate friends cannot imagine her being called anything else but "Dolf."

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

"THE LITERATURE OF AMERICAN HISTORY," edited by J. N. Larned for the American Library Association, will be published early in June by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. This work is much the most ambitious of the kind ever attempted. In its preparation Mr. Larned enlisted the aid of forty specialists drawn from Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia and other leading universities, and from the critical forces of the most trustworthy journals of America. Each contributor chose the works within his own field, and has given each book a short note of description and appraisal. Canada has a strong department, edited by William McLennan, of Montreal; Central and South America form a division, equally valuable, edited by Mr. G. P. Winship, of Providence. To assist readers, students and library purchasing committees, Professor Channing, of Harvard, appends three lists, for a school library, a town library, and a good working library. All told this bibliography comprises more than four thousand titles.

THE DIBBIN CLUB will publish some time during the fall a work to be entitled "Three Centuries of English Booktrade Bibliography: an essay on the beginnings of booktrade bibliography since the introduction of printing, and in England since 1595," by A. Growoll, managing editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and author of "Booktrade Bibliography in the United States in the xixth Century," etc. An important feature of the volume will be a chronological annotated "List of the Catalogues, etc., published for the English booktrade from 1595-1902," prepared by Wilberforce Eames, of the Lenox Library. The work will be illustrated with two portraits on Japan paper, and a number of title-pages and book lists in facsimile, many of them never reproduced before. Orders for the volume, which will be priced at five dollars before the date of issue, and higher after publication, may now be registered, without the money, with the manager of the club, M. L. Greenhalgh, 1135 Madison Avenue, New York.

PROFESSOR EDWARD ARBER, we are glad to note, has received sufficient encouragement to proceed with the preparation of his reprint of the "Term Catalogues," announced by us some months ago. The "Term Catalogues" supplied the place in English booktrade bibliography that their prototypes, the Frankfurt and Leipzig fair catalogues occupied in German booktrade bibliography. They were published, at sixpence each, four times a year in the middle of the law terms—Hilary, Easter, Trinity and Michaelmas—from 1668-1709, first by Starkey, then by Starkey & Clavel, later by Robert Clavel alone, and finally by the "booksellers of London." These catalogues are very scarce. No library in the world contains a complete set of them; no public library in the United States seems to have any of them, though Mr. Wilberforce Eames, of the Lenox Library, personally has almost a complete set. Of the 162 numbers issued, one has not yet been recovered. Professor Arber will print his edition from five different collections, three public and two private. It will be printed in new bold Caslon type, on vellum paper, in three double-columned quartos, of which the first will be ready next September, and the others will follow at intervals of four or five months. The index will amount to about six hundred columns, eight inches deep, in brevier type. The impression is limited in number, and the cost of the small-paper copies will be ten guineas. Subscribers' names should be sent to Professor Arber 73 Shepherd's Bush Road, W. London, Eng.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BRISTOL, VA.—Caldwell & Sites, of Roanoke and Staunton, have opened a branch bookstore here.

DERBY, CONN.—George C. Allis, on May 14, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his opening his bookstore. Both the business and its proprietor are as up-to-date and as enterprising as ever.

MERIDEN, CONN.—S. G. and P. G. Andrews, brothers of the Rev. O. J. Andrews, will open a bookstore at 62 East Main Street. They will make a specialty of foreign books.

MERRIMAC, MASS.—George N. Goodwin has bought back the book and news business that he sold three years ago to Jordan & Co.

RICHMOND HILL, N. Y.—The Nassau Press is in the publishing business here.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—According to further information we learn that while Hugo Witter succeeds to the business of C. Witter, the firm name of that old-established business remains the same. Mr. Hugo Witter and Maria Witter, the widow of Anton Witter, have conducted the business for some time in partnership. On April 9 Mr. Hugo Witter purchased his partner's entire interest, and will continue the business as heretofore at No. 19 South Broadway.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE first edition of John Russell Young's "Men and Memories," edited by Mrs. Young, and published by F. Tennyson Neely, is entirely exhausted. Another edition is now in press.

THE NASSAU PRESS, Richmond Hill, N. Y., will publish at once "Selling the Bear's Hide, and Other Tales," by Charles Stewart Davidson; also, "Gamelands of Maine," by George N. Van Dyke.

THE official directory of the German booktrade for 1902, just issued records the names of 9771 firms connected either directly or indirectly with the booktrade, showing an increase of 283 over last year. It is expected that in another year the number will go well beyond 10,000.

JOHN LANE'S staff, who were turned out of their premises, at 67 Fifth Avenue, a month ago, through damage done to the store by water, consequent on a fire overhead, have now returned to their usual quarters. A sale of books damaged by water will be held during the course of the coming week, commencing Monday, May 19.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP, Washington, D. C., will publish shortly a new, revised and enlarged edition of "Birds of Washington and Vicinity," by Mrs. L. W. Maynard. A feature of this edition will be a tabulated list of all the birds found in the District of Columbia, compiled by Dr. C. W. Richmond, the well-known ornithologist of the Smithsonian Institution.

EDWIN GINN, the publisher, was honored recently by thirty of his townsfolk, representative citizens of Winchester, Mass., by a dinner in appreciation of his recent purchase of Ringley, a beautiful residential park in the centre of the town. Had it not been for his timely purchase this beautiful expanse of trees and lawns would have been divided by speculators into a hundred house lots.

GEORGE BARRIE & SON, Philadelphia, are publishing by subscription Strickland's "Lives of the Queens of England," in sixteen volumes, four of which are just ready. The edition is limited to 1000 copies. A number of extra illustrated copies are being prepared for booklovers by the insertion of over one hundred impressions of rare old engravings, water-color facsimiles, etchings, etc., none of which are included in the ordinary edition.

D. C. HEATH & CO., Boston, have in press for immediate issue in Heath's Modern Language Series a "First French Scientific Reader," by Professor B. L. Bowen, of the Ohio State University. This book is designed for students in universities who wish to do their first reading in scientific rather than literary French, and also as a reader of scientific French in school classes. The book will be provided with suitable notes and a brief vocabulary.

JOHN MURRAY, London, will publish in the fall "a new work by John Milton" that has naturally aroused considerable interest. The Rev. Walter Begley, the finder of "Nova Solyma: the Ideal City of Zion, or Jerusalem Regained," has no doubt of the authenticity of his discovery. It is in prose and verse, and is supposed to have been begun by Milton when a student at college. "Nova Solyma" will be issued in two volumes, with a long introduction by Mr. Begley.

GEORGE W. OGILVIE has purchased at the sale of the Trustee in Bankruptcy the entire assets and good will of the George M. Hill Co., of Chicago, including their accounts and bills receivable. Mr. Ogilvie will continue the business of the Hill Co. under the firm name of George W. Ogilvie & Co., at 166-174 South Clinton Street, Chicago, and will be ready at once to supply such of the books as may be in stock. They make a special announcement of a new line of Teachers' Bibles.

DODD, MEAD & CO. will publish, early in the fall, a new romance by Marie Corelli, the manuscript of which is nearly completed. The story is said to be a singularly powerful and striking one, dealing with a subject which has never before been treated in fiction, and intimately touching on certain topics which have been for some time uppermost in the minds of many people. The title which the author has selected is "Temporal Power as a Study in Supremacy." This, however, is not expected to be the final title.

A CAREFUL narrative of the varied life of the elder Dumas is nearing completion, in one volume, from the pen of Arthur F. Davidson, the editor of an English version of Dumas's correspondence. The book will contain an elaborate bibliography, a special feature of which will be an arrangement of the novels in their historical sequence, with an indication of the period of French history to which each refers. The biography will be published in the course of the summer by A. Constable & Co., London.

A VOLUME containing the Physical Papers of the late Henry A. Rowland, of Johns Hopkins University, is to be issued under the editorial direction of President Remsen and Professors Welch and Ames. The several articles reprinted from magazines and journals number sixty in all. The memorial address of Professor Mendenhall and a portrait of Professor Rowland will further enrich the volume, which may be had for five dollars, subscribed in advance of publication by orders sent to Professor Joseph S. Ames, Baltimore.

GINN & Co. have just published an "Academic Algebra," by W. W. Beman, Professor of Mathematics in the University of Michigan, and D. E. Smith, Professor of Mathematics in the Teachers' College, New York; also, an "Elementary Physical Geography," by W. M. Davis, Professor of Geology at Harvard University. They will shortly bring out vols. 3, 4 and 5 of their Youths' Companion Series of Supplementary Readers, namely, "Under Sunny Skies," "Towards the Rising Sun," and "Strange Lands Near Home."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation a special edition of "The Voyage to Lisbon," by Henry Fielding, which Austin Dobson in his "Life of Fielding" calls "one of the most unfeigned and touching literary tracts in our own or any other literature." The volume will be printed on Dickinson handmade paper from a new font of type cast from matrices that are the exclusive property of the Riverside Press. A photogravure portrait of Fielding after Hogarth forms the frontispiece to the volume, the edition of which will be limited to 300 copies.

THE Department of History of the University of Pennsylvania has just added to its Translations and Reprints from the Original Sources of European History a volume by Dr. W. E. Lingelbach, entitled "The Merchants' Adventurers of England: Their Lawes, Customes and Ordinances." This important document is accompanied by reprints of several shorter ones carefully selected with a view to supplying the necessary sources for a study of the history of the adventurers from the time of their earliest activity. Longmans, Green & Co., of New York, are the selling agents.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish next month a novel by William Stearns Davis, entitled "Belshazzar," in which the author tries to show what manner of city Babylon really was. He has used, so far as possible, the most recent archaeological discoveries in the ruins and sites of Babylon. The character of Belshazzar he has drawn from a study of Assyrian and Babylonian monarchs. Mr. Davis says: "Up to the last few years a story of Babylon not a work of pure imagination would have been impossible. Now we know Chaldea almost as intimately as her great rival, Egypt."

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish shortly "The Natural History of the British Surface-feeding Ducks," by John Guille Millais, illustrated with colored plates taken from drawings by the author and by A. Thorburn and from photographs; "The Mystery of William Shakespeare: a Summary of Evidence," by Judge Thomas E. Webb; "The Teaching of History and Civics in the Elementary and the Secondary School," by Professor Henry E. Bourne, of the Western Reserve University, a new volume in the American Teachers' Series; also, "The Varieties of Religious Experience," being the Gifford Lectures on Natural Religion, delivered in Edinburgh in 1901-1902, by Professor William James, of Harvard University.

LEE & SHEPARD have in preparation the following four books for boys: "Cruising on the St. Lawrence, or, a Summer Vacation on Historic Waters," by E. T. Tomlinson, the third volume of the St. Lawrence Series, with illustrations by A. Burnham Shute; "Tom Winstone, 'Wide Awake,'" by Martha James, author of "My Friend Jim," with illustrations by W. Herbert Dunton; "A Boy of a Thousand Years Ago," a story of Alfred the Great in his youth, by Harriet T. Comstock, author of "Cedric the Saxon," with illustrations by George Varian; also, "Brave Heart Elizabeth," a story of the Ohio frontier, a second volume of the Brave Heart Series, by Adele E. Thompson, with illustrations by Lilian Crawford True.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. have just published a volume entitled "Religion for the Time," by the Rev. Arthur B. Conger, rector of the Memorial Church of the Good Shepherd, at Rosemont, Pa. The book contains several lectures or "Conferences on Natural Religion," delivered in the Church of the Transfiguration, in New York. To these lectures are appended four essays. The topics treated cover "Agnosticism," "The Casual Judgment," "Conscience and Will," "Original Sin," "The Nature of Inspiration," etc. Mr. Conger, while manifestly very firmly convinced of the value of faith, aims to place himself outside the restricted field of revelation and look at the propositions of Christianity from another angle. He thereby explains in a popular way many fundamental religious ideas.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish shortly an entirely new selection of Darwin letters, dealing, for the most part, with scientific subjects; also, "A Welsh Witch," a novel by Allen Raine, a new volume in Appleton's Town and Country Library. They will publish in June "The Story of Music," by Frederick J. Crowley, a new volume in their Library of Useful Stories, in which the author explains the course of theoretical and instrumental progress, deals with the composers and the factors in musical history that have caused actual advances, and closes the book with a chapter on Wagner. They will also publish next month "The Way of Escape," a novel, by Graham Travers, author of "Mona Maclean," etc., who deals with a question that is answered very differently in "The Silence of Dean Maitland."

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just published the "Autobiography of Gabriele Rossetti," edited by his son, William M. Rossetti; "Little Memoirs of the Nineteenth Century," by George Paston; "Sanatoria for Consumptives: a critical and detailed description, together with an exposition of the open-air or hygienic treatment of phthisis," by F. Rufenacht Walters, Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, with an introduction by Sir Richard Douglas Powell, which gives detailed description of the more important existing institutions, and in this way an account of the most approved methods of the treatment of consumption; also, "The Sporting Reminiscences of Lord Granville Gordon." They will bring out in this country some time in the fall an important work by E. J. MacGillivray, entitled "The Law of Copyright in Great Britain, the British Possessions, and the United States," already mentioned by us.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, by arrangement with Houghton, Mifflin & Co., will publish, in ten volumes, the collected works of Francis Hopkinson Smith under the title of the Beacon Edition. Mr. Smith has revised and rearranged his stories and sketches, bringing those on harmonious themes into groups, and has added several new stories not found in any other edition. The name of the Beacon Edition, and the little device of a lighthouse on the title page and used as the watermark of the paper, are, of course, derived from Mr. Smith's work as an engineer and a builder of lighthouses—the famous Race Rock light among others, the scene of the novel of "Caleb West." Three drawings in colors will adorn each volume, and there will be a frontispiece portrait of the author. Mr. Smith himself, E. A. Abbey, Howard Chandler Christy and F. C. Yohn are among the artists who will contribute the illustrations.

THE JOHN C. WINSTON COMPANY, of Philadelphia, have in preparation a work entitled "The Roots of Christian Teaching as Found in the Old Testament," by Professor George Aaron Barton, of Bryn Mawr College, who lately published "A Sketch of Semitic Origins," through the Macmillan Company. "This little volume," the author says in a foreword, "has been written for those who would study the Old Testament devotionally. Many are puzzled to know how to use the Old Testament. They have an idea that modern knowledge and modern methods of study have wrought great changes in our conception of that part of our Bible, but just what these changes are they often do not know, and when they do know, often experience a vague sense of helplessness with reference to the use to which the Old Testament may be put." It is Professor Barton's hope to set his readers right on these points, and to prove that the roots of Christian teaching penetrate into Hebrew and Semitic soil.

H. ROCHESTER DRAKE, the travelling representative of Fleming H. Revell Company, who is universally known and liked throughout the trade, has just returned from an interesting trip to and along the coast of Cuba. Accompanied by his wife, he had a series of most delightful experiences, as they saw for themselves the many improvements that Uncle Sam has wrought in the condition of his protégé. Among other things, Mr. Drake tells of hearing a company of very small children singing in the distance; upon nearer approach he was surprised to find that they were singing our own national airs with great enthusiasm. He investigated and found that the children belonged to a kindergarten that was being maintained and instructed by a young woman from Auburn, N. Y. Mr. Drake starts this week upon his usual Southern trip, greatly invigorated by his three weeks on the ocean, and undoubtedly has a large stock of stories and anecdotes from his experiences to share with the trade.

JOHN LANE has just ready a narrative of life at the court of Zillū's-Sultan, the eldest surviving son of the late Nasirūd-din, Shāh of Persia, entitled "Persian Children of the Royal Family," by Wilfrid Sparrow, with upward of forty full-page illustrations reproduced from photographs. Mr. Lane also announces "With Napoleon at St. Helena," by Paul Fremeaux, who bases his work on the unpublished papers and letters written by or to Dr. John Stokoe, surgeon of the English warship Conqueror. The work was first published in Paris early last year under the title of "Napoleon, Prisonnier," and is translated into English by a great granddaughter of Dr. Stokoe. Another book just brought out by Mr. Lane is "Terrors of the Law," by Francis Watt, who gives critical and biographical studies of Bloody Jeffreys, the Bloody Advocate Mackenzie and the original Weir of Hermiston, Braxfield. He will publish on the 27th inst. two anonymous books—"An English Girl in Paris" and "In a Tuscan Garden."

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready a "Standard First Reader," with a "Teachers' Manual," the result of many years of labor and much consultation with prominent philologists and practical educationists in this country and in England. The "Standard Reader" claims the following features: Words are taught in connection with thought, as by conversation; pupils are led to think thoughts that are worth knowing; careful provision is made for drills in the vowel and consonant sounds; the scientific alphabet for giving pronunciation, the same as is done in the "Standard Dictionary," is used—one sound for each symbol, one symbol for each sound; the pupil is taught to detect and produce the sounds that make the language; script letters used are so similar to print as to make the learning of script incidental; efforts are made to inspire patriotism, honesty, courage, industry, love for fellows, the beginnings of a public spirit; and the illustrations are by the best artists and help to explain the text. The "Teachers' Manual" which accompanies the "First Reader" presents suggestive material for all the lessons.

SAMUEL W. GREEN, formerly connected with the firm of Gray & Green, printers, and now connected with the printing house of his son, William Green, 324-330 Pearl Street, New York, celebrated his eightieth birthday on May 9th, in as good condition, barring his silvered hair, as the writer of these lines knew him to be thirty-three years ago. As his friend and pastor, the Rev. John W.

Chadwick, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says in the opening lines of a poem dedicated to Mr. Green on this occasion:

"Youngest of all the men I know!
And have you come to eighty years?
Although your top is crowned with snow,
But little other sign appears."

Mr. Green, in his day, has perhaps been connected with the making of more books, periodicals and weekly papers in this country than any other man now alive. It is also to his persistency, which at one time amounted to monomania, that typesetting by machinery was first made practicable—the so-called Burr typesetting machine being a monument to Mr. Green's belief in, and devotion to, an idea the realization of which while it made the world richer did not greatly add to his material welfare.

Heath's Home Library, four different series of the world's best literature for children, of which thirty-six volumes were published last year, will receive the following additions in 1902. To the thirty-cent series: Fouque's "Undine," with an introduction by Mrs. E. S. Phelps Ward. To the forty-cent series: "Old World Wonder Stories," edited by Professor M. V. O'Shea; the "Tales of Mother Goose," by Perrault, a new translation by Charles Welsh. To the seventy-five-cent series: "Robinson Crusoe," complete, with an introduction by the Rev. Edward Everett Hale; Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare," with an introduction by Mrs. E. S. Phelps Ward; Melville's "Typee," edited by Professor W. P. Trent; George Eliot's "Silas Marner;" Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe;" Dickens's "Tale of Two Cities;" Flora L. Shaw's "Castle Blair," edited by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore; also "True Tales of Birds and Beasts," edited by President David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford, Jr., University. The four series together form a library of forty-seven volumes, handsomely and attractively bound, containing a total of seven thousand pages and over sixteen hundred original illustrations. The Frederick A. Stokes Co., of New York, are handling the line and their travellers are now taking orders for the fall trade.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. announce "The Pharaoh and the Priest," a historical novel of ancient Egypt, translated by Jeremiah Curtin from the Polish of Alexander Glovatski. They will bring out in June a new novel, by Mary Devereux, the author of "Up and Down the Sands of Gold," entitled "Lafitte of Louisiana," the romantic story of John Lafitte, the buccaneer, who with his brother Peter engaged in privateering expeditions against Spanish merchantmen in the Gulf under commissions from France and from the Republic of Colombia. General Jackson, upon his arrival in New Orleans, procured their pardon and took them into his service. After the war the brothers removed to Central America, where they continued their freebooting occupation. John Lafitte died about 1826 on the coast of Yucatan. They have just ready in the Badminton Series of Sports and Pastimes a 450-page book, entitled "Motors and Motor-Driving," written by Alfred C. Harmsworth, with contributions by other eminent Englishmen. The book describes fully the various kinds of automobiles, is finely illustrated, and contains a glossary of terms. Notwithstanding the large first printing, Mary Catherine Crowley's "The Heroine of the Strait" is now in its third edition. The publication of "In the Eagle's Talon," Shepard Stevens's romance of the Louisiana Purchase, has been delayed until the last part of May.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY announce a volume on "The Sermon on the Mount," by Professor Benjamin W. Bacon, D.D., Buckingham Professor of New Testament Criticism and Exegesis in Yale University, which contains the lecture delivered at Wellesley College a year ago, revised and enlarged, in which the author considers the discourse of Jesus on the new law of the kingdom of God with regard to its literary structure and didactic purpose. Then follows an analysis of the discourse as reported by the Evangelists, with a view to ascertaining the original occasion and context of the elements of extraneous origin, and a comparison of readings for reconstruction of the discourse. He closes with an account of the reconstruction of the more important synagogue discourses of Jesus from which elements would appear to have been added by the Evangelists to the Sermon on the Mount. There is also an index to Scripture passages discussed. They will publish shortly the long-promised work on "The Philosophy of the Christian Religion," by Dr. A. M. Fairbairn, of Mansfield College, Oxford, who aims to do two things: (1) to explain religion through nature and man, and (2) to construe Christianity through religion; "Philosophy and Life," by Professor John Henry Muirhead, of the University of Birmingham, England, who treats of abstract and practical ethics, imperialism, the science of poor law relief, modern temperance reform, etc.; also, "The Roll-Call of Westminster Abbey," by Mrs. A. Murray Smith, an entertaining gossipy account of the Abbey monuments, with many half-tone illustrations. They will publish at an early date "A Text-book of Systematic Anatomy." The plan adopted in preparing this work is the systematic method as distinguished from the topographical method, the several systems of organs being treated separately and in sequence by such authorities as Professor A. H. Young, Drs. Arthur Thomson, D. H. Hepburn, Harold Stiles and others equally well known. Dr. D. J. Cunningham, Professor of Anatomy and Surgery at Trinity College, Dublin, is the general editor of the volume, which will be adequately illustrated.

PICK-UPS.

THE BOOK HUNTER.

[Dedicated to P. K. Foley.]

I've spent all my money in chasing
For books that are costly and rare;
I've made myself bankrupt in tracing
Each prize to its ultimate lair.
And now I'm a ruined collector,
Impoverished, ragged and thin,
Reduced to a vanishing spectre,
Because of my prodigal sin.

How often I've called upon Foley,
The man who's a friend of the cranks;
Knows books that are witty and holy,
And whether they're prizes or blanks.
For volumes on paper or vellum
He has a most accurate eye,
And always is willing to sell 'em
To dreamers like me who will buy.

My purse requires fences and hedges,
Alas! it will never stay shut;
My coat-sleeves now have deckle edges,
My hair is unkempt and "uncut."
My coat is a true first edition,
And rusty from shoulder to waist;
My trousers are out of condition,
Their "colophon" worn and defaced.

My shoes have been long out of fashion,
"Crushed leather" they both seem to be;
My hat is a thing for compassion,
The kind that is labelled "n.d."
My vest from its binding is broken,
It's what the French call a relique;
What I think of it cannot be spoken,
Its catalogue mark is "unique."

I'm a book that is thumbed and untidy,
The only one left of the set;
I'm sure I was issued on Friday,
For fate is unkind to me yet.
My text has been cruelly garbled
By a destiny harder than flint;
But I wait for my grave to be "marbled,"
And then I shall be out of print.

—ARTHUR MACY.

AN ENTERPRISING BOOK AGENT.—So fearless is the modern book agent that he even hawks his wares within the sacred precincts of the police station. A few days ago a particularly intrepid member of the fraternity entered the station where now presides Police Captain Price, once of Tenderloin fame. A Sergeant was at the desk in uniform. Capt. Price sat beside him in plain clothes. The agent first tackled the Sergeant, who cut him short with a "G'wan." Then he turned to the doughty Captain, who first lowered his brows with a scowl, then, as if struck with a sudden inspiration, he fairly beamed on the book agent, reached out both hands over the desk and began working his fingers as if delivering a mute address at lightning speed. For a second the book agent all but collapsed. Then he pulled himself together, and walking briskly to the desk, flung down his prospectus, opened it at the first page, pointed to it, and then set his fingers and hands in motion with the speed of an electric motor. Turning to the next page, he continued his pantomimic discourse with the same speed, and so on to the end of the book. Before the agent had half finished, Price leaned back in his chair gasping, and when the agent finally closed the book with an eloquent flourish, Capt. Price got out of the chair and said: "Young man, you are too slick to be selling books. Anyhow, put me down for two copies."—New York Times.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

IN ANSWERING, PLEASE STATE EDITION, CONDITION, AND PRICE, INCLUDING POSTAGE OR EXPRESS CHARGES.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

WRITE YOUR WANTS PLAINLY AND ON ONE SIDE OF THE SHEET ONLY. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

REMINISCENCES of a DRAMATIC CRITIC

By HENRY AUSTIN CLAPP. With photogravure portraits. Large crown 8vo, $1.75 net; postage 13 cents.

A review of the American stage during the last quarter-century by one who has long been recognized as a leading exponent of honest and discriminating criticism of the drama. He comments upon the art of the greatest actors of the period, the quality of modern theatrical literature, and the promise of the future. Mr. Clapp's unusual equipment of knowledge, large experience, and literary skill, make the book singularly attractive.

The Desert and the Sown

By MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, author of "The Led Horse Claim," etc. 12mo, $1.50.

Mrs. Foote has never written a story so strong and full of human interest as this. The scene shifts between a military post in the far West and the Dutch farming country near Newburg on the Hudson. The novel is powerful in delineation, in development of character, and in narrative interest.

Lee at Appomattox and Other Papers

By CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS. Crown 8vo, $1.50 net; postage 14 cents.

Into this volume Mr. Adams has gathered some of the results of his long and valuable experience gained by travel, by the practice of great affairs, and by association with men of influence. The essays cover a wide range, are timely and thoroughly interesting.

Van Dyck

Vol. XII. of the Riverside Art Series. Edited by ESTELLE M. HURLL. A collection of fifteen pictures and a portrait of the painter, with Introduction and Interpretation. Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt top, 75 cents net. (Postage, 8 cents.) Also School Edition, cloth, 50 cents net; paper, 35 cents net.

Of the pictures reproduced, the most noteworthy are the famous Dresden portrait of Charles I., and the portraits of "Anne Wake" and of "Madame Colyn de Nole and her Daughter." The illustrations represent the two great divisions of Van Dyck's work—portrait and subject painting—and show the development of his power and the range of his versatility.

A Remedy for Love

By ELLEN OLNEY KIRK, author of "Our Lady Vanity," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

This is a sweet, old-fashioned love story, full of happy surprises, and like all of Mrs. Kirk's novels it will be particularly attractive to girls. The story is told with vivacity, sparkling dialogue, and the highest charm of delicacy and reticence.

September Days on Nantucket

By WILLIAM ROOT BLISS, author of "Quaint Nantucket," etc. Crown 8vo, $1.00 net; postage extra.

A new book by Mr. Bliss, reflecting the enjoyment of early autumn on this island of the sea. It tells of the best of good times, driving about the island to Siasconset, Surfside, Sankaty Light, listening to ghost stories and tales of ancient mariners, to the accounts of old houses and the odds and ends of legend and history that cling about the place. The volume has the same charm of mellowness and the flavor of colonial times that Mr. Bliss's earlier books possess.

Riverside Literature Series

No. 151. Jackanapes and The Brownies. By JULIANA HORATIA EWING. With introduction and notes. 16mo, paper, 15 cents net.

These two stories make a happy combination, for they both evidence the gentleness and generosity of the author, who was a story-teller from the nursery. Henry W. Boynton, M.A., lately Instructor in English at Phillips (Andover) Academy, has edited the number with introductory and explanatory notes.

The Annual Literary Index, 1901

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc.; with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology, and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

The ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX complements the "Annual American Catalogue" of books, published each year, by indexing (1) articles in periodicals published during the year of its issue; (2) essays and book-chapters in composite books; (3) authors of periodical articles and essays; (4) special bibliographies; (5) authors deceased; (6) dates of principal events during the year. The two volumes together make a complete record of the literary product of the year.

"Of great value to all who would keep advised of the topics and writers in the periodical literature of the day."
—Universalist Quarterly.

PUBLISHERS who safeguard crevices through which high binding bills creep, are ultimately bound to lead the procession in the onward march of progress. Just stop long enough in the whirl of your busy hours to consider the vast importance and advantage to your interests which a connection with me implies. A line to me either to call or submit samples and estimates will have the desired effect. The annual sum total I am positive I can save you in your binding account is sufficient to provide a dividend, the amount of which some of the best publishers don't earn. In spite of being your lowest bidder I will give you the highest character of work, employing only the highest priced labor, thus obtaining the best possible results. My plant and facilities are unequalled. Don't allow yourselves to be blinded by cant and misrepresentation. The constant hum of my busy plant is a sufficient answer to those who disregard the broad plane of justice and equality. Even those publishers who have their own plants find that I can do their work cheaper and better than they can produce it themselves.

MOST BEAUTIFUL BOOK OF THE SEASON

THIS novel will be notable for its distinctive flavor and its piquant originality. Its plot is full of odd turns and attractive surprises. Its purpose is to tell an attractive story and to enforce the eternal truth that "THERE IS NO SEX IN SIN." This is done in a terse and dramatic way that will grip the reader with hooks of steel and hold his willing allegiance till the last word of the last page is read.
